A TIME TO REMEMBER

by Al Sheehan

The First World Masters Track & Field Championsships in Toronto, Canada, was a memorable experience for all who attended. "I wouldn't have missed it for anything in the world," was a frequent com-mment. "I made friends with people from all over the globe," was another. "It's going to be the best of weeks, then start pointing for Canada in 1977," said another, or "I'm going to be in 1977 even if I'm not in shape to run, just to be a part of this!".

Over 1600 veteran athletes from 27 nations competed in the 3-day "Masters Olympics" at Toronto's Cobo-Hill Stadium. The 500m American contingent was the largest, followed by Sweden, Canada, Great Britain and Australia, who all sent sizable teams. Other nations represented were Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Denmark, France, Germany, Greece, Holland, Northern Ireland, Republic of Ireland, Italy, Japan, New Zealand, Norway,
Northern Scotland, Singapore, South Africa, Venezuela, Venezuela, and Wales.

Prior to the Toronto meet, 613 athletes from 15 nations competed in the 3-day U.S. Masters Championships in White Plains, New York.

The First World Games got off to a rocky start, and, in fact, came close to being suspended by the interruption of international politics. It was while the U.S. Masters International Track Team was competing in White Plains that Dave Pain, Captain of U.S.M.I.T. and one of the key organizers of the Toronto games, got word from Don Farrington, president of S.M.I.T. that World Masters Cham-ionships, that the Canadian Government in an 11-hour decision was cutting off that the South African and Rhodesian athletes be banned from competing in the meet.

The government had provided $24,000 in financial aid to the organizers and promised $3,000 to the pay the officials. They demanded the barring of the African athletes or their money back. The Canadian meet organizers had long ago invited the Africans and had accepted their entries, but were faced with a request by the Canadian government if the Africans were allowed to stay then, the Africans had already left and were in New York, competing in White Plains. Nevertheless, the next director voted to ban the Africans from the competition.

When Dave Pain and others in White Plains learned of this on Saturday, three days before the start of competition, they were furious. At a Saturday night meeting of the U.S. Masters, it was unanimously voted to urge the Canadian meet organizers to reconsider, and permit the Africans to compete.

In a telephone interview which made the front page of the Toronto Star, Pain said, "Many of the athletes on my team are ready to pull out if the South Africans are not allowed to take part. Representatives of the other teams that I have spoken to about the Canadian have indicated they will follow suit. The Canadian government has no right to do this," Pain said, the 15 South Africans had entered as individuals, not as a

A hurried look at Peaks

Two days before taking part in the Prague Marathon, a 27-year-old woman from the United States, Leticia Windler, crossed the finish line in 2:51:30. Her time was fast enough to secure a place among the top 10 finishers at the World Marathon Championships in Prague. "I feel great," she said afterward. "I trained hard, and my preparation paid off." Windler trained for the Prague Marathon with the help of her coach, Mike Robinson, who designed a rigorous training plan that included long runs, speed workouts, and strength training.

Field Program

Field Program had achieved more publicity than at any other time in their history. The team was composed of athletes from many countries, including the United States, Canada, and Japan. Their athletes were highly skilled and had trained extensively to achieve the best possible results.

The Race

On the morning of the race, the athletes were gathered at the starting line, ready to compete. They were dressed in their best outfits, and their energy was palpable. The weather was perfect, with a light breeze and clear skies.

The Results

The results of the race were announced, and the news was exciting. Many of the athletes had set new personal bests, and the top finishers were giving interviews and taking photos.

The Aftermath

After the race, the athletes were exhausted but satisfied. They knew that their efforts had paid off, and they were looking forward to their next opportunity to compete. The Field Program had achieved a significant milestone in their history, and they were excited to see what the future held.
A TIME TO REMEMBER

On Wednesday evening, the games officially opened with a parade of athletes from the United States and the rest of the world through the Olympic Stadium. The torch was lit by a man in a cape and sunglasses, dressed in national banners. The Toronto Globe reported that 20 protests showed up because of the African decision.

Thursday thru Saturday saw some of the most amazing performances ever seen in Canadian athletics. Abby Thack, Tom Greenwood, 83111 Fitzgerald, Roy Fowler, Jim Mohr, Peter Maguire, Steve Summerson, Brian Bingley, Mike Mann, Anne McKenzie, Fred Strother, Norm Bright, Bill Mclanahan, Don Parson, etc. The team returned home and was met by Ed McConan, Paul Cade, Jackson Davis, Garth of Germany, Jack Jordan, Gordon McEvoy, and Brian McCrory, all of whom had stuck it out in the snowstorm.

On the same day, Gookin won the most outstanding male athlete award. The 40-year-old USSR athlete from San Diego, CA ran a sensational 2:08.9 in the 5000 and a 4:11.0 in the 1500, yet did not even qualify for the finals for both events. The competition was very tough, but that’s what it all is about, isn’t it?

On Friday morning, about 100 athletes gathered for the Masters International Committee meeting. It was

1. To agree to any rules as to the frequency of the World Championships until 1977, although the general rule is about every two years.
2. To accept the invitation of the city of Gothenburg, Sweden to host the 2nd World Championships in either June or August 1977.
3. To form an eight-member international committee, including representatives from the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Italy, and the rest of the world. The committee was made up of two representatives from each nation to ensure an equal representation.

4. To look into the controversy between "professional" and "amateur" Masters athletes, which has caused some athletes to be barred from Masters competition. It was decided that it was the responsibility of the Local Organizing Committee to ensure that all athletes were eligible and that no rules were violated.

Curtis Brown, the International Chairman for the Canadian Track and Field Federation, was a member of a three-member committee that was sent to Canada to study the situation. The committee was made up of representatives from the Canadian Track and Field Federation, the Canadian Olympic Committee, and the Canadian Amateur Athletic Association.

A PARRIED BAN ON ATHLETES PROTESTED

Canada’s decision to bar 200 African athletes from the Olympic Games in Montreal has been widely criticized among competitors of the Games. In a statement, the Canadian Olympic Committee (COC) said it would not support any form of political protest or any other form of activity that could result in loss of recognition by the International Olympic Committee. The COC also said that it would not support any form of political protest or any other form of activity that could result in loss of recognition by the International Olympic Committee.

South Africans to compete Yugoslav athletes walk out

The Canadian government's attitude and actions over the recent track and field meet that started yesterday in Khartoum, involving two athletes from 40 countries, has received the support of a leading South African athlete. However, the South African government has not officially expressed its position on the matter.

Consider the basic facts: The World Masters meet, consisting of track and field events over 40 years old — a sort of Geriatric Olympics — was held in Khartoum. The events included running, javelin, discus, shot put, and hammer throw.

Participants at the event were keen to compete, but they were also concerned about the political implications of the event. The Canadian government, however, had not officially supported participation in the meet.

The South African government has been silent on the matter, but some athletes and officials have expressed frustration with the government's lack of support. However, the government has not issued any official statement on the matter.

Athletes are ready to sue Champhagne's and fellow South African athletes decided to file a lawsuit against the Canadian government over the event. They are seeking compensation for the loss of their earnings and the cost of travel to the event.

Champhagne's legal team is led by a prominent lawyer in South Africa, who has vast experience in dealing with human rights issues and has successfully represented several athletes in the past.

The lawsuit is expected to gain significant media attention and could have far-reaching implications for similar events in the future.

Oldtimers rewrite track record book

Several veteran athletes have rewritten track and field records at the recent Masters' meet in Khartoum. This has been a significant achievement, with many athletes breaking records that had stood for decades.

Some of the notable achievements include:

- John Smith, 80, who set a new record in the 100m hurdles, beating the previous record by 0.02 seconds.
- Mary Brown, 75, who set a new record in the long jump, beating the previous record by 0.03 meters.
- Robert Taylor, 82, who set a new record in the discus throw, beating the previous record by 0.04 kg.

These achievements have been celebrated by the athletes and their fans, who have seen the Masters' event as an opportunity to showcase their skills and achievements.

In the track event, Canada's Brian McLean, 56, set a new record in the 100m hurdles, while England's Mark Davis, 52, set a new record in the long jump. Both athletes have been praised for their performances, with Davis setting a new world record of 0.56 seconds in the long jump.

The event has also provided an opportunity for younger athletes to learn from the veterans, with many of them noting the importance of hard work and dedication in achieving success.

The event has been widely hailed as a success, with many athletes and spectators expressing their satisfaction with the event.
Contrasts in training

Record for 50-year-old

By ROY KEMP

For Bill Fitzgerald, running 100 meters is serious training.

At age 50, the Los Angeles Olympic athlete achieved the turnaround in his track career last week when he showed a world record for athletes 50 and over 100 meters. In the 100-meter handicap for Masters Track and Field Championships, sponsored by the National Masters Track Association, Fitzgerald ran 11.4 seconds, 0.02 seconds slower than the world record.

A non-competitive, Fitzgerald and only 800-yard runner in his early eighties and also gradually built up his program to a point where he could keep up with the younger athletes. He now runs regularly, 4 miles a day, 10 miles a week, at a 5 mph pace. His program includes a 10,000-meter race every two weeks and a 50-kilometer race every six months.

On Sunday, Fitzgerald will run in the 100-meter handicap for athletes over 50, and he hopes to share the world record with other competitors.

Athletes ready to sue

as a partner in the case

Perkins says the USOC doesn’t care much for the athletes. He added that the athletes are not interested in the controversy, as they are more concerned with their own interests.

The case involves a dispute between the U.S. Olympic Committee and the athletes over the payment of bonuses. The athletes claim that they were not paid for their performances at the Olympics, while the USOC argues that it had already paid them.

Perkins said, “The USOC doesn’t care much for the athletes. They are not interested in the controversy, as they are more concerned with their own interests.”

Masters are never too old

By LEE JONES

The Masters, which is a tournament for players over 50, is one of the most prestigious events in golf. The event was founded in the late 1960s and has been held annually since then.

The Masters is often referred to as the "Championship of Champions," as it attracts some of the oldest and most accomplished players in golf.

The event is played on the Augusta National Golf Club, which is one of the best courses in the world. The Masters attracts thousands of spectators each year and is one of the most popular events in golf.

The Masters is a one-week event, and it starts on the first Monday of April. The event usually attracts a large number of spectators, and it is one of the most popular events in golf.

This year, the Masters was held from April 4 to 10, and it attracted a large number of spectators, as always. The event was won by Jack Nicklaus, who won his fifth Masters championship.

FALSE STARTS

Closing entry dates for the World Masters (6 weeks prior to the event) illustrates the conflict between the entrants and the World Masters. The Canadians did not hold their published deadline, which was extended twice. Unfortunately, they failed repeatedly to reject over 200 entries (mostly U.S. applicants). This behoves the Master athlete to get his entry in on time for the next Masters meeting, 2 weeks for an international event. There were over 1400 entries and in excess of 4000 event entries to be processed for Toronto — a formidable task! The organizers had their official photographer, Ron Lee, who took hundreds of excellent photos of our team members and friends at both White Plains and Toronto. If you wish copies of any of his prints.

Send your name, address, the type you are interested in, and your bid. From: $5.00 to $1.00, Sat. $1.50, and Sun. $2.50.

These are exceedingly rare and worked oil hard to get shots of everyone. Sorry, we can't publish them all but we'll make sure to give your order a try. The USMNT would love to publish results of your event provided in your local club. We will do this, however, only if you send the results in camera ready form and adapt it to the USMNT format. We cannot accept due to the high volume of entries we receive. Results that are typed on floppy disks will be unreadable and will have to be redone. We expect a minimum of 3,000 entrants in 75. (Deposit for form on page 42.)

TEAM CHAMPIONSHIP

The competitive format is the same as that used in previous years. We believe that the format is the most effective way to achieve the goals of the USMNT. The format is designed to allow teams from different countries to compete against each other in a fair and equitable manner.

The format is as follows:

1. Each team is given 24 hours to submit their заявление (statement) to the head of the committee.
2. The заявление is then reviewed by the committee and a decision is made on whether or not the заявление will be accepted.
3. If the заявление is accepted, the team is then given 24 hours to submit a copy of their заявление to the head of the committee.
4. The заявление is then reviewed by the committee and a decision is made on whether or not the заявление will be accepted.
5. If the заявление is accepted, the team is then given 24 hours to submit a copy of their заявление to the head of the committee.

30. The заявление is then reviewed by the committee and a decision is made on whether or not the заявление will be accepted.

These steps are repeated until a final decision is made on whether or not the заявление will be accepted. The committee will then notify the team of their decision and provide any necessary instructions.

We appreciate your understanding and cooperation. Thank you for your interest in participating in this unique and exciting event.
Banana republic

The Canadian government's attitude and actions over the amateur track and field meet that started yesterday in Bathurst, involving 100 athletes from 25 countries, reconfirms the suspicion that Trinidad is laying Canada into a following banana republic.

Consider the key facts: The World Masters meet, consisting of track and field athletes over 40 years old—a sort of Geriatric Olympics—would encourage physical fitness. Participants paid their own way over, while the federal government agreed to contribute $25,000, or about $25,000 has already been paid.

Then the organizers were informed by Ottawa (Marc Lalonde's department), which finances that if some American or Commonwealth athletes were allowed to compete — on a good basis, in fact back give the $25,000. 1.34% century that typically 1 to do business by extrarregional decisions. 2. Why God's name deliberately enter politics into sport?

Before, for those athletes who threatened to boycott the meet unless all could compete, they understood principles better than politicians. They also gave breath to the organizers to call Ottawa to jump in the lake.

Toussaint gets that for coming up to the most to be like in any that might as well not imply moral approval. But when it comes to South Africa in is the world's standard, in truth, despite the 300 years of rule toward a certain goal, the indignities and violations of human rights perpetrated by the South African government is anathema to anyonebug South Africa does.

Trudeau's government has prevented Taiwan athletes from competing in Canada, out of deference to Peking. Rhodesians have been inhumanly treated by past governments and cannot enter the country.

Watch for boycotts and incidents at next year's Olympics against South Africa, etc. on political grounds. Canada is in an advantageous position in such behavior.

Trudeau is less than he realized that there's no limit to the amount of abuse people will take, once they're conditioned to it. We haven't the stomach of Portuguese people, who at least resist. We are, officially, now a ruling, anti-people, government.

A TIME TO REMEMBER...by Al Sheehan

The First World Masters Track & Field Championships in Toronto, Canada was an exalted experience for all who attended. "I wouldn't have missed it for anything in the world," was a frequent comment. "I made friends with people from all over the globe," was another. "I'm going to relax for a couple of weeks, then start pointing for Sweden in 1977," said another, or "I'm going to Sweden in 1977 even if I'm not in shape to run, just to be a part of this!"

Over 1400 veterans athletes from 27 nations competed in the 3-day "Masters Olympics" at Toronto's Exhibition Stadium. The 515-member American contingent was the largest, followed by Sweden, Canada, Great Britain and Australia, who all sent sizable teams. Other nations represented were Austria, Brazil, Belgium, South Africa, Spain, France, Germany, Italy, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Scotland, Singapore, South Africa, Switzerland, Yugoslavia and Wales.

Prior to the Toronto meet, 615 athletes from 13 nations competed in the 3-day U.S. Masters Championships in White Plains, New York.

The First World Games got off to a rocky start, and, in fact, came close to being aborted by the intervention of international politics. It was while the U.S. Masters International Track Team was competing in White Plains that Dave Fawcett, Captain of 500MTC, and one of the key organizers of the Toronto games, got word from Don Rukin, President of the 500MTC World Masters Championships, that the Canadian Government in an 11th-hour decision was insisting that the South African and Rhodesian athletes be banned from competing in the meet.

The government had provided $32,000 in financial aid to the organizers and promised $8,000 more to pay the officials. They demanded the barring of the African athletes or they would not compete. The Canadian meet organizers had long argued against the Africans and had accepted their entries, but were faced with bankruptcy if the government withdrew its $32,000. So they hired the Africans to stay home, but the Africans had already left and were in New York, competing in White Plains. Nevertheless, the 317 directors voted to ban the Africans from the competition.

When Dave Fawcett and others in White Plains learned of this on Saturday, they were furious. At a Saturday night meeting of the U.S. Masters, it was unanimously voted to urge the Canadian meet organizers to reconsider, and permit the Africans to compete.

In a telephone interview which made the front page of the Toronto Star, said: "Many of the athletes on our team are ready to pull out if the South Africans are not allowed to take part. Representatives of the other teams that I have spoken to about the Canadian ban have indicated they will follow suit. The Canadian government has no right to do this." Pain said the 15 South Africans had entered as individuals, not as a group.
