The First World Masters Track & Field Championships in Toronto, Canada was a memorable experience for all who attended. "I wouldn't have missed it for anything in the world," was a frequent comment. "I made friends with people from all over the globe," was another. "I'm going to relax for a couple of weeks, then start pointing for Sweden in 1977," said another, or "I'm going to Sweden in 1977 even if I'm not in shape to run, just to be a part of this".

Over 1400 veteran athletes from 27 nations competed in the 5-day "Masters Olympics" at Toronto's Etobicoke Stadium. The 515-member American contingent was the largest, followed by Sweden, Canada, Great Britain and Australia, who all sent sizable teams. Other nations represented were Austria, Belgium, Brazil, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Guyana, Holland, Northern Ireland, Republic of Ireland, Italy, Japan, New Zealand, Norway, Rhodesia, Scotland, Singapore, South Africa, Venezuela, Yugoslavia and Wales.

Prior to the Toronto meet, 615 athletes from 13 nations competed in the 3-day U.S. Masters Championships in White Plains, New York.

The First World Games got off to a rocky starts, and, in fact, came close to being aborted by the interjection of international politics. It was while the U.S. Masters International Track Team was competing in White Plains that Dave Pain, Captain of USMITT and one of the key organizers of the Toronto games, got word from Don Farquiarson, President of the 1975 World Masters Championships, that the Canadian Government in an 11th-hour decision was insisting that the South African and Rhodesian athletes be banned from competing in the meet.

The government had provided $24,000 in financial aid to the meet organizers and had promised $8,000 more to pay the officials. They demanded the barring of the African athletes or their money back. The Canadian meet organizers had long ago invited the Africans and had accepted their entries, but were faced with bank-ruptcy if the government withdrew its $32,000. So they wired the Africans to stay home. But the Africans had already left and were in New York, competing in White Plains. Nevertheless, the meet directors voted to ban the Africans from the competition.

When Dave Pain and others in White Plains learned of this on Saturday, three days before the start of competition, they were furious. At a Saturday night meeting of the U.S. Masters, it was unanimously voted to urge the Canadian meet organizers to reconsider, and permit the Africans to compete.

In a telephone interview which made the front page of the Toronto Star, Pain said: "Many of the athletes on my team are ready to pull out if the South Africans are not allowed to take part. Representatives of the other teams that I have spoken to about the Canadian ban have indicated they will follow suit. The Canadian government has no right to do this." Pain said, the 15 South Africans had entered as individuals, not as a sponsored team, each paying their own $2000 air fare and expenses.

"They've come all this way only to be unceremoniously kicked out by Canada," said Pain. "It's like inviting friends to dinner and slamming the door in their faces when they arrive."

Over the weekend, Pain determined that the U.S. team could raise the $32,000, if necessary, to prevent the Canadian meet organizers from bankruptcy, if the South Africans competed.

On the arrival of the USMITT in Toronto at noon on Monday, the story was on the front page, and a top item in television and radio newscasts. At an airport interview with the Star, Pain said: "The whole Masters' concept is that of individuals competing among themselves and not representing a country. It is non-political! The government should stay out of it! The South Africans have passports to be in this country; they're not here illegally. The haven't done anything wrong. It just happens they came here to compete in a track and field meet."

At the same interview, American black athletes Dave Jackson, Don Cheek and Tom Clayton said they were in favor of the Africans competing, but were undecided as to whether they would withdraw from the meet if the ban was upheld. At a Monday luncheon meeting with Farquharson, Meet Vice-President Elwyn Davies and attorney Don Champagne, Pain urged them to reconsider their decision and admit the South Africans. He promised to raise the $8,000 to pay the officials, and to raise the $24,000 if the government demanded the money back. Everyone agreed, however, that the government was on shaky legal ground if it wanted its money back, since it had stipulated no conditions originally, and the money had already been

The $8,000 was another matter, since it was to pay the officials' travel expenses, who were enroute to Toronto from throughout Canada at that moment. Farguharson pointed out that if the organizers were to defy the government, the officials might refuse to participate in the meet even if the $8,000 were available to pay them. Since most of the officials hoped to referee at the 1976 Montreal Olympics, Farquharson felt they might well walk out of this meet rather than risk blacklisting by the Canadian government. Pain said that, should that happen, USMITT would provide officials from among its members, that many were qualified to run events, and others would gladly volunteer; that the meet would obviously not run as smoothly, but that it would go on.

Clearly, the Canadian meet organizers were in a tough spot. Theywanted to be fair to the South Africans whom they had invited and whose entries they had accepted, and who were now in Toronto ready to compete. They were concerned with the threat of the withdrawal of many athletes if the South Africans were barred. And they considered possible reprisals by the Canadian government if the South Africans were allowed to compete.

They were grateful to Pain and USMITT for publicizing the situation in the media, thus getting public opinion behind the South Africans.

Later that afternoon and evening, Pain held interviews with the Toronto Sun and appeared on the nationwide Canadian National Broadcasting television network, saying that while we may not agree with a nation's internal social structure, politics has no place in athletics, and that even if it did, we could probably help to change the world for the better by inter-communication with people with whom we disagree, rather than by boycotts and the shutting off of ideas and verbal exchange.

At this point, it was clear that, regardless of the outcome of the Canadian decision, the Masters Track and Field Program had achieved more publicity than at any other time in its history. The story had carried to other countries. Pain was interviewed by the New York Times and United Press, which carried the story nationwide to thousands of its U.S. affiliates. Millions of people who had never heard of Masters Track & Field before, were now aware of the program.

On Monday night, the Canadian meet organizers voted 6-5 to rescind their ban and allow the South Africans to compete. "Track Officials Defy Ottawa," headlined the Toronto Sun the next day.

Farquharson said: "Our committee debated for some length of time but at no time did the South African apartheid situation enter the conversation...We felt the government's decision was offered at so late a stage that it was unfair to the competitors."

'We're obviously very please," Pain said. "It saved us a lot of problems and hard feelings. Our position was completely a matter of principle. Next time it could be Canada or the United States in the same position as the South Africans are here. 'The decision of the Canadians demonstrates the independence of the Masters," said Pain.

Harry Lampert, one of the South African competitors, said it was "a tremendous sense of relief for the South Africans. We have great admiration for the courage of the Canadians to make their decision."

Immediately after the vote was announced, the fivemember Yugoslavian team said it was pulling out in protest because it didn't want South Africans to compete.

Meanwhile, Ed Phillips had been rounding up potential officials from among USMITT members in the event they were needed. Happily, they were not, as the whole issue died down very quickly and the meet went on as scheduled. The officials, as it turned out, were superb and contributed enormously to the success of the

Marc LaLonde, the Canadian official who demanded the ban was on vacation and "could not be reached for comment." A spokesman said: "There's not too much we can do."

The persistence and determination to fight for principle in the face of overwhelming odds by Dave Pain was clearly the difference in persuading the Canadian officials to rescind their ban by one vote. It would have been so easy to roll over, take the $32,000, tell the South Africans "Sorry" and go on with an untroubled

But Masters athletes are not the kind that turn tail and sacrifice principle just to run in a track

In an editorial, the Toronto Sun said: 'Why in God's name deliberately insert politics into sport? Bravo for those athletes who threatened to boycott the meet unless all could compete! They understand principle better than politicians. They also gave backbone to the organizers to tell Ottawa to jump in the lake...

The meet began on Tuesday as scheduled with the Pentathlon and a 10,000 meter cross-country course. up 45-degree hills and through 50 yards of 2-feet-deep water. It was a real thrill to watch the hundreds of athletes from different countries as they ran by. Australia, then Sweden, then Canada, France, USA, Venezuela, Great Britain, Finland.....the Olympics could not be more exciting.

Hamburgers and beer were served at a social gathering of athletes and friends following the cross-country, which was highlighted by the oldest competitor in the meet, legendary, 90-year-old Duncan MacLean, the "Tartan Flash" from Scotland, entertaining the crowd. MacLean, a former stage understudy to the late Sir Harry Lauder. sang two songs he composed especially for the occasion, "The Four-Minute Mile" and Push and Go." MacLean says "Every muscle you have is there for a purpose and if you don't use them, they'll die."

A hurried peek at Pikes

English fell runner Joss Naylor and 349 fellow masochists ran 13 miles to the summit of the famous peak, wheeled around and plunged back down wo days before taking part in the most strenuous marathon race in the world, Joss Naylor rode the cogwheel train to the top of Pikes Peak. He sat just beneath the 14,110-foot summit and looked down at the barren slopes of shale, or scree, as it is known in the North of England, and at the narrow trail that zigzags through dusty-pink rocks and around precariously balanced boulders. The trail came into view more than a thousand feet below, where a craggy cliff shields a 1,500-foot drop called The Cirque, carved by a glacier in the Ice Age. Beyond. Navlor could see the verdant lower ridges covered with blue spruce, and still farther down, Colorado Springs as an expanse of tiny dots and, in the hazy distance, the beginning of the plains of Kansas, Clouds brushed the wooded hills like mammoth feather dusters, occasionally revealing two or three lakes. And Naylor said, "For four years I have been wanting to come here to see for myself how beautiful Colorado really is."

Navlor had arrived earlier in the week in Maniton Springs, a tourist town at the foot of Mount Manitou, a 9,455-foot neighbor of the grand peak. While his exploits as a fell, or mountain, runner (SI, July 28) had taken him above 4,000 feet in Scotland and to 9,000 feet in Switzerland, he had never experienced the dizziness that had now overcome him while running above 12,000 feet in Colorado. In training for the Pikes Peak Marathon the 39-year-old sheep farmer from the English Lake District had pushed himself up the 13-mile trail three times; it took him three hours on Tuesday, the last 2,000 feet; two hours and 40 minutes on Wednesday, running all the way; and two hours, 15 minutes on Thursday when he stopped at 13,000 feet.

"I could feel the blood thump in the back of me head," he was saying now. "I just couldn't get enough oxygen in me lungs. You are not going at your maxilevel. If I come within 30 minutes of the lucky lad who wins, I'm happy."

Navlor pointed to a nose-dive slope of scree that looked as if it would turn into a was the work of Fred Barr, who between deadly avalanche at the slightest touch. "I could run down that and pick up quite a few chaps," he said. Naylor held up a small rock. 'It's for a friend back home. Eric Roberts. He raised the money for me trip, about £600, half of it from IBM United Kingdom Limited, He's a fell runner, too, and he said to me, 'I want you to do me a favor, laddie. Fetch me a bit of rock back from the summit of Pikes Peak.

"I don't mind losing if I can finish respectably. I want to make fell running an international sport. There are so many good athletes that have dedicated themselves to running hills. They should be able to compete more."

Naylor was already fending a special glamour to the 20-year-old marathon. Strangers rushed up to him in the streets of Manitou Springs, eager to shake hands. "Are you the Englishman?" they asked, and the inevitable question was put to him by a hefty lady who inquired, when he was forced to walk WINNER TRUJILLO PICKS HIS WAY UP THE ROCKY MOUNTAIN

"Why do you want to do it?" "Because I'm in top condition," Nayfor replied.

The Ute Indians must have climbed the mountain many hundred years earlier but Lieut, Zebulon M. Pike of the U.S. Army was credited with having "discovmum, fast-like. I know I don't have a ered" it in 1806 when he attempted its aschance against the local chaps. I'll be cent and was stopped by waist-deep about 40 minutes slower than at a lower snow. Pike remarked that no mortal man would ever climb to the top, yet 14 years later three men managed to do so. The Barr Trail, on which the marathon is run,

> 1921 and 1923 shoveled his way up so that he could start a business, leading tourists on burros to his Barr Camp cabins at 10,200 feet and proceeding the next morning to the peak for a splendid sunrise.

A race on the trail was held in 1936, but it was not until August 1956 that the first 26-mile marathon (385 yards short of the standard distance) took place, from the cogwheel-train depot at 6,571 feet to the top and back down. Ten nonsmokers had challenged four smokers, and only four, all nonsmokers, finished, Since then the marathon has been an annual affair organized by Rudy Fahl, who has been up the trail 140 times, including 13 races, but who is, at 77, no longer a competitor.

The race starts with a steep three-mile climb, winding through scrub oak un Mount Maniton before the runners can stop for a drink from French Creek. Then there are four miles of flat terrain shaded by aspens and blue spruce, allowing for a fast pace. After Barr Camp, the halfway point which offers the first view of Pikes Peak, the trail climbs rapidly again. Two miles of switchbacks lead to the Forest Service's A-frame shelter. Just above it, the runners pass through the Dismal Forest, a cemetery of gray twisted tree trunks left from a fire half a century ago. At 12,000 feet, the timberline fails behind and the rock-strewn wasteland opens up with patches of moss and lichens and pillows of snow. (This year it snowed heavily 10 days before the race.) Just above the Dismal Forest a bronze plaque serves as a reminder that Mrs. G. Inestine B. Roberts made her 14th ascent at the age of 88 in 1957 and that she died of exposure on the way down. Farther on, The Cirque looms to the left, and then the trail rises on the While most of the runners stayed in rustic motels such as the Van Horne Cottages, which offered a complimentary spaghetti dinner on the eve of the race, Navlor found free accommodations in a large house up the hill, a rehabilitation center called the Stillpoint Foundation, run by Gia-fu Feng, a barechested, barefooted Chinese with a graving Confucius beard. It is Gia-fu Feng's calling to teach Taoism, and every morning Naylor found him and a dozen students meditating on the living-room floor. One dry, hot day he asked them to perform a rain dance, and the Taoists began swaying their arms. The rain came that very night. Naylor learned, however, that Taoists are strict vegetarians, and after a couple of days on a diet of organically grown vegetables and strange teas, he went downtown for a chicken dinner.

Saturday, though, Feng surprised him with a bowl of cooked ground beef which tasted delicious. "I'm also the spiritual trail master of the race," said Feng, "and I know runners need meat," He then proceeded to show Navlor a line in one of the books he had written on Taoism. It read: "Accept what is in front of you without wanting the situation to be other than it is." It seemed appropriate advice before

This year 350 competitors (half of them from Colorado), including 35 women, had arrived for the marathon. They formed a mixed group of serious runners, joggers and hikers. Anybody reaching the top after six hours would not be officially timed. Rick Trujillo, a 27-yearold geologist from Ouray, Colo., was the favorite, since he works above 9,000 feet at the Camp Bird Mine and had won the two previous races, setting the round-trip record of 3:36:40. Chuck Smead, a 24-year-old Californian, hoped to better his record to the top of 2:07:38, Then there was Walt Stack, a 67-yearold hod carrier from San Francisco called the Iron Man because he won his age group four times. The oldest starter was 83-year-old Lady Brenda Ueland from Minneapolis, who had been knighted by King Haakon II of Norway.

Race day was bright and sunny, and after the runners had disappeared into the woods at 7:30 a.m. the spectators drove up the highway to the summit. Sonia and Roland Ljungkvist, a Swedish couple who had been Naylor's hosts during his first few days of acclimatization in Boulder, Colo., awaited him with a bottle of lime-flavored Acolade, the English equivalent of Gatorade. First to reach the peak was Trujillo, lifting his knees easily.

His ascent time of 2:01:47 broke Smead's record by almost six minutes, and he turned immediately to start down. When Navlor finally came into view he was in 18th place. He was jogging slowly with a stagger, his body bent over like that of a man twice his age, his hands almost touching the path, and the salt lost in perspiration had formed a white crust around his mouth. It had taken him two hours, 41 minutes and five seconds to reach the top, and he sat down, his eyes lifeless, reaching for his Acolade. He drank it very slowly. Suddenly he jumped to his feet, a fresh spark in his eyes, and bounded down the trail as ungainly-and as fast-as a giraffe.

It was 87° in Manitou Springs by the time Trujillo reached the finish in 3:31:05, breaking his record for the round trip, his left shoulder and knee skinned from a fall at Barr Camp. "Every year I forget how painful this run is," he said. "I feel sorry for Naylor. I run above 10,000 feet all the time. He is at such a disadvantage and he has so much pressure on him." To everyone's surprise Naylor finished sixth, 36 minutes and 17 seconds behind Trujillo, who hurried to shake Navlor's hand. "I know how you feel," he said.

"Aye, I'm all done in," said Naylor. "Right from the start, me legs felt heavy. I was about 30th at Barr Camp, but I got into a nice steady rhythm and caught a few chaps going up and a few more coming down." He pulled off a bloodied sock. "I knew I had to suffer to do well. All the way down, the blood in me head was going thump, thump and I kept looking round whether anybody was catching me but there was nobody behind."

Later, in a telephone interview with BBC London, he said cherrily, "I was sixth, pretty good for an old man, and could you ring the wife and tell her I had a good run and I would be home Tuesday night nine o'clockish?" Then he joined Stack's post-race party, lifting many cans of Coors and swapping jokes with the Iron Man like a local chap. In the middle of the night, when his legs were rather unsteady going up the hill to Feng's, he kept wondering whether it was the altitude that affected him or the drinks.

HERE COMES THE BRIDE - Traditional march down the aisle is traded for a sprint down the cinder track by Bill Stock and his bride, Dorothy Curtis. Stock slipped the

A TIME TO REMEMBER

On Wednesday evening, the games officially opened with a parade of all the athletes under white and red national banners. The Toronto Globe reported that 20 protesters showed up because of the African decision, but no one seemed to notice.

Thursday thru Saturday saw some of the most amazing performances ever achieved by Masters athletes..... Alby Thomas, Jack Greenwood, Bill Fitzgerald, Roy Fowler, Jim McDonald, Dick Stolpe, Al Guidet, Hal Higdon, Anne McKenzie, Fritiof Sjostrand, Norm Bright. Ken Carnine, Theo Orr, John Gilmour, Jim O'Neil, Ian Hune, Ed McComas, Phil Conley, Dave Jackson, Shirley Davisson, Garbisch of Germany, Jack Brown, Gordon Farrell, Eric Austin. It was a thrill just to watch

Ed Gookin won the "most frustrated athlete of the meet" award. The 40-year old USMITT member from San Diego, Ed ran a sensational 2:01.9 in the 800 and a 4:11.0 in the 1500, yet did not even qualify for the finals in both events. The competition was very very tough. But that's what it's all about, isn't it?

On Friday morning, about 150 athletes gathered for a Masters International Committee meeting. It was

1) to defer any decision as to the frequency of the World Championships until 1977, although the general sentiment seemed to favor a meet every two years.

To accept the invitation of the city of Gothenburg, Sweden to host the 2nd World Championships in either June or August, 1977.

3) To form an eight-member international committee, including Dave Pain and Bob Fine of the United States, Ian Hume and Don Farguharson of Canada. Maeve Kyle of Northern Ireland, Jack Fitzgerald of Great Britain, Wal Sheppard of Australia, and Ollin Wallin of Sweden, to propose policy on an International level and to work with the meet organizers in Sweden to insure a top-caliber meet in 1977.

To look into the controversy between "professional" and "amateur" Masters athletes, which has caused some athletes to be barred from Masters competition in some countries with a view to eliminating any rule requiring Master athletes to be amateurs.

Highlight of the Saturday competition was the 200meter dash for athletes over 80, featuring Duncan MacLean, Charlie Speechly (88), England, and Fritz Schreiber (81), of Sweden.

The young whippersnapper of the group, Schreiber, was first with MacLean second. Not even perspiring or out of breath minutes after the race. MacLean was ready to go again, "I'll race him again right now. Maybe I could beat him two out of three," he said.

After the competition ended on Saturday afternoon, Don Farquharson led the athletes in a ceremonial victory lap around the track.

Over 2000 athletes and their guests attended a banquet Saturday night at the Four Seasons-Sheraton Hotel. Dave Pain was presented with a special medal by Elwyn Davies and the committee for his immense contribution to the success of the meet. Dancing and good fellowship followed dinner.

On Sunday, some competitors toured the Canadian National Exhibition, others went to Niagara Falls, others started to pack, and many just reflected on the memorable six days just past.

On Monday, the USMITT charter took off for Los Angeles. Some carried madals. Some did not. All carried memories they would not soon forget!

Athletes rally to support barred South Africans

Many of the 1,400 athletes from 30 countries arriving in Metro today for a week-long amateur track meet may pull out of the event unless a ban against 13 white South Africans and two Rhodesians, also white, is lifted, according to the founder of the event. David Pain, captain of a 516-member U.S. team, told The Star last night in an interview by telephone from White Plains, N.Y.: 'My team is ready to null out if the South Africans are the decision of the cabinet to not allowed to take part,

"Representatives of the other teams that I have spoken to about the Canadian han have indicated they made on an individual basis. There would be no team decision.

Three black members of the U.S. group said they hadn't made up their minds whether to support the South Africans but they said they were against politics being involved in athletics

Pain sent a telegram to Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau today "deploring as an attack on individual rights" withdraw financial aid for the competition if any South Africans take part. Pain is the founder of the stand. He has heard secondhand that if the South Africans do compete, the Yugoslavs will not.

Another official said that if the South Africans take part the Yugoslavs won't because their government won't let them compete with athletes from South Africa.,

The Toronto official also said he has asked Ottawa to send a "senior man, preferably one who has direct contact with Health Minister

Don Farquharson, president of the Canadian Mastonight. "Part of the trouble is the federal government's delay in answering our query on this matter. I asked May 27 and got an answer last week. I asked repeatedly for clarification and they kept saying 'the ministers haven't met'.'

A spokesman for Lalonde told The Star today that the delay was caused by difficulty in arranging a meeting with External Affairs officials.

Farquharson also reveal ed that about 75 per cent of Ottawa's $30,000 grant has already been paid to the committee and the government is now demanding its return.

"As soon as we heard from the government," he went on, "we advised the South Africans that because of pressure from our government, we would have to reject their entries. But by then they were already in the U.S., competing.'

Farquharson said there are no blacks among the South Africans coming here.

'Apartheid' ban on athletes protested

Canada's decision to bar 15 white South African athletes from an international amateur track meet in Etobicoke next week will either spark "massive illwill" among competitors or force the sponsors into bankruptcy, a United States organizer of the event said yesterday in a telephone interview with The Star.

David Pain, captain of the 250-member U.S. team, said that his team has senf strongly worded telegrams to the U.S. State Depart ment in Washington and the: U.S. embassy in Ottawa to protest the exclusion of ! South African athletes because of the country's apart-

A similar telegram will be sent to Ottawa officials today, he said.

The telegram says that American competitors "deplore and protest this ill-advised decision," which they feel is an athletic and not a political matter. The Canadian Track and Field Association decided Tuesday not to let the athletes compete in the ama-teur World Masters' meet because of a threat by the Canadian government to withhold $30,000 in grants. The meet is for athletes aged 40 and over.

An aide to Health Minister Marc Lalonde was quoted as saying Ottawa "will not support apartheid morally or financially" and will cut off financial aid to any Canadian sports event that invites teams from South Africa.

'A PITTANCE'

"For the government, $30,000 is a pittance but to the sponsor it's the difference between making it or breaking it," Pain said. "They have gone out on a limb and if the Canadian government jerks the rug from under them, they'll go bankrupt."

The South Africans, who are competing in a meet for amateur athletes in White Plains, N.Y. say they have not been officially notified of Canada's decision, but that they will come to Toronto next week regardless of their eligibility.

Pain the founder of the World Masters' Meet said the entrants have paid their own expenses and are "individuals competing in a nonpolitical meet."

He said he would personally decline to compete in the Etobicoke meet in protest if the ban is upheld.

By that time the South Africans were already in the United States.

Ottawa refuses grant South African athletes barred from meet

Fifteen white South African athletes have been barred from an athletic meet in Stobicoke next week but ne said today they hadn't been informed yet.

The athletes have been ompeting in White Plains, V Y this week.

The Canadian Track and Field Association decided Tuesday not to let the athletes compete in the World Masters' meet because of a threat by the federal government to withhold $30,000

Ottawa announced Friday that it will cut off financial aid to any Canadian sports event that invites teams from South Africa, meet director Ken Twigg said

An aide to Health Minister Marc Lalonde said yesterday that Otfawa "will not support apartheid morally or financially.

NOT A TEAM

Twigg said in an interview that, technically, the government is not barring he South Africans, but without government aid the meet could not be held.

"They told us the money would have to be returned if the South Africans took part," he said. "That's really putting it to us."

Twigg said that although the athletes are travelling as a group, they had enter-

Burger said that despite not being able to compete, the athletes would likely come to Toronto anyway.

"We paid for this out of our own pockets. . . . It was an individual effort, we aren't sponsored by anyone as Twigg said it was a difficult situation because of the last-minute government policy change.

He said a telegram from the track and field association was sent to South Africa Tuesday which it washoped would reach the delegation before it left.

Banana republic

The Toronto Sun, Wednesday August 13, 1975

amateur track and field meet that started yesterday in Etobicoke, involving 1400 athletes from 30 countries. reconfirms the suspicion that Trudeau is turning Canada into a leftwing banana republic.

Consider the basic facts: The World Masters meet, consisting of track and field athletes over 40 years old - a sort of Geritol Olympics — would encourage physical fitness. Participants all paid their own way over, while the federal government agreed to contribute $32,000 — of which $24,000

Then the organizers were informed by Ottawa (Marc Lalonde's department, which figures) that if South African or Rhodesian athletes were allowed to compete - no dough. In fact give back the $24,000. 1.) It's crummy (but typical); to do business by retroactive decisions; 2.) Why in God's name deliberately insert politics into sport?

Bravo for those athletes who threatened to boycott the meet unless all could compete! They understand principle better than politicians. They also gave backbone to the organizers to tell Ottawa to jump in the lake.

When Trudeau gets flak for cosying up to Peking or Moscow he likes to say that diplomatic recognition doesn't imply moral approval. But when it comes to South Africa it does. The double standard reigns. In truth, despite the repugnance one feels towards apartheid, the indignities and violations of human rights perpetrated by the Soviets and Chinese are infinitely more oppressive than anything South Africa does.

Trudeau's government has prevented Taiwan athletes from competing in Canada, out of deference to Peking. Rhodesian passport-holders cannot enter the country.

Watch for boycotts and incidents at next year's Olympics against Israelis, Chileans, etc. on political grounds. Canada is now an advocate of such behavior.

Trudeau feels (as he has written) that there's no limit the amount of abuse people will take, once they're ' ditioned to subservience. We haven't the stomach of tuguese people, who at least resist. We are, officially leftwing, anti-people, government.

Athletes were ready

By BOB MITCHELL Staff Writer

The Canadian Masters Association came within a whisker of being sued by South African athletes, according to CMA president Don Farquharson.

At an emergency meeting Monday night, the CMA decided to ignore the federal government's ban on the athletes and allowed them to compete at the World Masters track meet, which officially begins today at 5 p.m. at Etobicoke's Cen-tennial Stadium. The government ban was due to South Africa's apartheid racial policy.

Had the CMA not defied the government. Farquharson says the South Africans were in a perfectly legal position to sue.

"They had a legal contract with the CMA and the CMA accepted their entrance fee and told them to come," said Masters' legal advisor Don Champagne. "Had the CMA decided to abide with the government's decision, they contract. And the South Africans probably would have won their case."

Champagne's and Farquharson's reactions were not just conjecture, because prior to the CMA's 11th hour decision, members of the South African con tingent indicated they would take some action if they were prevented from competing.

A member, who wished to remain anonymous, said they were lead to believe they could compete. They didn't officially learn they couldn't compete until they arrived in Toronto Monday at noon. Officials blamed the mixup on a communications

"At no time did the issue of South African apartheid enter the discussion," he anyway you look at it, somebody was on our backs, either the government or the South Africans.

The CMA received a letter from the Sports and Fitness branch of the federas government Aug. 1 stating they would have to return the $32,000 grant given to them, if South Africans were allowed to compete.

Almost every veteran athlete attending the Masters Track and Field championships at Etobicoke's Centennial Stadium knows the name of the little village pictured on the back of the Canadian $2 bill, It is Melbourne, Que., home of 61year-old Ian Hume.

A retired teacher, Hume took his third gold medal of the global meet with a world record-breaking triple jump (for athletes over 60) of 10.45 metres, Saturday,

An accomplished high jumper in his youth and a track coach for many years, the 6-foot, 5½-inch Quebecker also proved he hasn't lost much of his skill when he bettered his division's Canadian mark in with a leap of 1.45 metres in the high gold in the pole vault by clearing 2.80 metres equalling the existing open mark. He also had a bronze in the avelin throw.

Highlight of Saturday's oceedings, however, was the 200-metre dash for athletes over 80, featuring the indestructable Tartan Flash, Duncan MacLean, a 90-year-old Scot

MacLean was second to a relative voungster, 81-yearold Fritz Schreiber of Shreiber's time was 44.7 seconds. MacLean came home in 49.2 while Charlie Speechley, 87, of England took the bronze in 53.3.

Three more world records fell Saturday when Reg Barlow, 71, of Melbourne. Australia, clocked a time of 21 minutes, 06.4 seconds in the 5,000 metres, while Jim Frazer, 61, of Scotland bettered the hammer throw world mark with a heave of 44.10 metres. Norm Bright. 66, set a world mark of 4:55.8 in the 1,500 metres, for his third gold medal.

Australian Albie Thomas, once a world record holder over two miles, also demonstrated be hasn't lost much of his speed by capturing the over-40 metric mile (1,500 metres) with a sub-4minute performance. Thomas' time was 3:59.5, not his fastest this year, but a time many a runner in his prime would fail to match. :

In the track events, Canada was completely shut out as the races were dominated ed by U.S., Australian and English runners. Saturday, the U.S. took another 19 golds with England getting nine and Australia eight. However, Canadians A Oakley, 45, a former Olyntpian, and Max Gould, 55, 61 Toronto, took two golds in the 25 km and 5 km walks respectively.

Art Taylor, 45, of Water loo, topped the 10,090 metres cross-country race in 36:49. Five more golds went to Canada earlier last week, all in field events.

Fowler, who is a health officer in Staffordshire, practices 12 times a week, running about 420 miles altogether. He trains twice a week wearing army boots. He also won the 10.060-metre cross-country race on Tuesday.

Many ruggers, including Fowler, complained about the hard track, it contributed to a number of mosele pulls.

Canadian open records were also set in the class 2 (50-59) class 3 (60-69) 10,000 metres.

Albert White, 71, of Peterborough improved his own Canadian native record for class 4 (over 70) shotput with a toss of 6.62 metres. His previous mark was 6.39

The crowd rose to its feet as the oldsters raced for the finish line last night at Etobicoke Centennial Stadium. And when it was all over, one man was as happy as a proud poppa.

"It was the finest moment of my track career," beamed 70year-old Winfield McFadden, after running the race of his life at the World Masters track meet.

And he had good reason to be proud. Besides setting a world Masters record for his age group in the 100 metres, in a time of 14.6 seconds, the winning medal was also his 100th as a Masters competitor.

His feat was even more remarkable when you consider that just five years ago a serious injury almost ended his track

"I injured my tendon pretty badly, tearing it in about 20 places after running on a hard surface. A doctor told me I would never run again. But I went to another doctor and he told me the best thing I could do to strengthen my ankle would be to run after it healed."

It's a good thing he did or World Masters spectators would have been deprived of seeing a man who's perhaps the finest At last week's U.S. Masters championships in White Plains, N.Y., he won five gold medals, finishing first in the high jump, long jump, triple jump and 100 and 200 metres, and he now holds world records in all these events for 70year-olds and up.

His record in the long jump is 14 feet, $1\,\%$ inches, in the high jump four feet, three inches and in the triple jump 30 feet, nine inches. And to go along with last night's record he set the 200-metre record at 30.2 seconds in June at the Senior Olympics in Los Angeles.

"I'm kind of disappointed this meet doesn't have very many events for us 70-year-olds. And for me to compete I have to race and jump against guys 65-68. But I'm determined to set records in those events, also."

Today he'll get his chance in the long jump and triple jump. Wednesday he finished third in the discus, throwing 91 feet "I took about four years off running to let my ankle heal se I've really only been running since last year. But my doctor says I'm 100 per cent fit and the ankle feels fine."

McFadden says he still hopes to be running when he reaches the age of fellow Masters competitor Duncan MacLean. MacLean, at 90, is the oldest competitor at the week-long meet and he and two 80-year-olds are scheduled to run a special race tomorrow afternoon.

'You've got to keep training all the time and I train six days a week, two hours a day. But I really believe athletic ability such as speed and agility is heredity."

Beardall would have won again had his handicap not been cut by a minute this time. He said he never saw the Aussies until the finish. "They were ahead of me all the way," he said.

Many of the runners complained about the heat at the top of the course, where there was no cooling fog. "It felt like the high 70s," said Beardall. "It was pretty hot up there."

The sixth-through-10th place runners were: Byron Lowry of Mill Valley, Robert Biancalana of Mill Valley, G. T. Tarin of West Valley, R. J. Malain son Beach to win the 65th annual Dipsea

FALSE STARTS.....

FALSE STARTS..... Closing entry dates for the World Masters (6 weeks prior to the event) illustrates the conflict between the entrants and the Meet Director. The Canadians couldn't hold their published deadline which was extended two weeks. Unfortunately they felt compelled to reject over 250 entries (mostly U.S. applicants). This behooves the Master athlete to get his entry in on time and for the Meet Directors to select a realistic deadline. We suggest 5 days prior to the event for a regional or national meet, and 2 weeks for an international event. There were over 1400 entrants and in excess of 4000 event entries to be processed for Toronto -- a Herculean task!.... The USMIT had its official photographer, Rod Lum 148 E. Williams St., Apt. #23, San Jose, CA 95112, who took hundreds of excellent photos of our team members and friends at both White Plains and Toronto. If you wish copies of any of his prints.

We will do this, however, only if you send the results in camera ready form and adaptable to the USMTT Newsletter format. Most results we get are unprintable and laid out incorrectly...... The Alex Pappas' now of St. Mary's, Kansas, pop. 1400, report they are sponsoring meets with over 100 entries and had to build a track to run on. With enthusiasm.like this the Masters will sprout everywhereIn-cidentally the scuttlebut is that the Midwest Masters will seek to sponsor the AAU Masters T&F Nationals in '76. If your community is interested in sponsoring this event write our National Chairman, Bob Fine, 11 Park Place, N.Y.C. 10007 and express your interest. A formal bid must be presented at the AAU National Convention to be held 1st week in December in New Orleans. Remember our policy is to move the Nationals around the country. Remember it takes a lot more work to put on the Nationals than it does to bid for them. White Plains learned that the hard way. Their promises at the Convention in October far exceeded their performance in August, as this year's Masters with its largest entry ever -over 600 -- was by far the poorest organized and run Nationals since the Meets inception. This was doubly unfortunate as we had many international guest athletes who deserved better particularly the British and Australians who really know how to put on a track meet. Our affair -- except for the track -- paled in comparison to the meet presented by the Canadians in Toronto.....

......Incidentally, congratulations and expressions of thank are in order to Don Farquharson, 559 Jarvis Street, Toronto, Ontario, CANADA M4Y 2J1, who with his dedicated Committee worked for nearly 2 yrs. to organize the Toronto Meet!... They established a standard the Swedes, and other sponsors will find hard to equal if not exceed. Drop a note of appreciation to Don which is small conpensation for the hundreds of hours of volunteer work which went into the event.....Regarding the South African flap the USMIT stands ready to guarantee the $32,000 grant of the Canadian government should it be necessary to make the reimbursement. Frankly we feel the governments position is extremely weak both morally and legally and doubt that a fund raising will be necessary. Also Don Farquharson reports that a preliminary accounting indicates they are not in the red. It will be sometime before we know just where we stand on this issue so stand by!.. Games...The specifics have not been worked out as yet..tentative plans, however, are to arrive in Great Britain in time for their British Vets Championships followed the next weekend by the Association of World Vets L.D.R. Marathon to be held in Coventry, England August 15. We will then tour Northern England -- do some fell running and then visit Scotland where the Northern Vets. will put on a 10Km Road Race in Glasgow. The trip will cover about 3 weeks. No cost estimate as yet. Costs, however, are directly related to the number going! Accordingly, if you are interested send a $50.00 deposit to us right away (Deposit form on Page).....Speaking of Tours: The USMIT will charter aircraft for SWEDEN in '77. Tentative plans are to have at least one West Coast and one East Coast departure with more, should the demand be great enough. Housing is very tight in Sweden in the summer, therefore, if you are planning to compete in the 2nd World Masters T&F Championships in Göteborg you may send a $50.00 per person deposit and thereby assure yourself of a seat and housing. We expect a minimum of 3000 entrants in '77. (Deposit form for Sweden on Page).Hal Higdon informs us he will sponsor a full-fledged Masters T&F training camp next summer probably just prior to the Nationals. Hal recognizes that most Master athletes have had little, if any, training in technique particularly in the skill events....or are staggering by on the remnants of their college training. Accordingly he plans a full staff of qualified coaches to fill this much needed service. If interested, drop a line to Hal at: 2815 Lakeshore Drive, Michigan City, Indiana 46360.....

Banana republic

The Canadian government's attitude and actions over the amateur track and field meet that started yesterday in Etobicoke, involving 1400 athletes from 30 countries, reconfirms the suspicion that Trudeau is turning Canada into a leftwing banana republic.

Consider the basic facts: The World Masters meet, consisting of track and field athletes over 40 years old — a sort of Geritol Olympics — would encourage physical fitness. Participants all paid their own way over, while the federal government agreed to contribute $32,000 — of which $24,000 has already been paid.

Then the organizers were informed by Ottawa (Marc Lalonde's department, which figures) that if South African or Rhodesian athletes were allowed to compete — no dough. In fact give back the $24,000. 1.) It's crummy (but typical); to do business by retroactive decisions; 2.) Why in God's name deliberately insert politics into sport?

Brave for those athletes who threatened to beyout the meet unless all could compete! They understand principle better than politicians. They also gave backbone to the organizers to tell Ottawa to jump in the lake.

When Trudeau gets flak for cosying up to Peking or Moscow he likes to say that diplomatic recognition doesn't imply moral approval. But when it comes to South Africa it does. The double standard reigns. In truth, despite the repugnance one feels towards apartheid, the indignities and violations of human rights perpetrated by the Soviets and Chinese are infinitely more oppressive than anything South Africa does.

Trudeau's government has prevented Taiwan athletes from competing in Canada, out of deference to Peking. Rhodesian passport-holders cannot enter the country.

Watch for boycotts and incidents at next year's Olympics against Israelis, Chileans, etc. on political grounds. Canada is now an advocate of such behavior.

Trudeau feels (as he has written) that there's no limit to the amount of abuse people will take, once they're conditioned to subservience. We haven't the stomach of Portuguese people, who at least resist. We are, officially, now a leftwing, anti-people, government.

A TIME TO REMEMBER.....by A1 Sheahen

The First World Masters Track & Field Champi onships in Toronto, Canada was a memorable experience for all who attended. "I wouldn't have missed it for anything in the world," was a frequent comment. "I made friends with people from all over the globe." was another. "I'm going to relax for a couple of weeks, then start pointing for Sweden in 1977," said another, or "I'm going to Sweden in 1977 even if I'm not in shape to run, just to be a part of this".

Over 1400 veteran athletes from 27 nations competed in the 5-day "Masters Olympics" at Toronto's Etobicoke Stadium. The 515-member American contingent was the largest, followed by Sweden, Canada, Great Britain and Australia, who all sent sizable teams. Other nations represented were Austria, Belgium, Brazil, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Guyana, Holland, Northern Ireland, Republic of Ireland, Italy, Japan, New Zealand, Norway, Rhodesia, Scotland, Singapore, South Africa, Venezuela, Yugoslavia and Wales.

Prior to the Toronto meet, 615 athletes from 13 nations competed in the 3-day U.S. Masters Championships in White Plains, New York.

The First World Games got off to a rocky starts, and, in fact, came close to being aborted by the interjection of international politics. It was while the U.S. Masters International Track Team was competing in White Plains that Dave Pain, Captain of USMITT and one of the key organizers of the Toronto games, got word from Don Farquharson, President of the 1975 World Masters Championships, that the Canadian Government in an 11th-hour decision was insisting that the South African and Rhodesian athletes be banned from competing in the meet.

The government had provided $24,000 in financial aid to the meet organizers and had promised $8,000 more to pay the officials. They demanded the barring of the African athletes or their money back. The Canadian meet organizers had long ago invited the Africans and had accepted their entries, but were faced with bankruptcy if the government withdrew its $32,000. So they wired the Africans to stay home. But the Africans had already left and were in New York, competing in White Plains. Nevertheless, the meet directors voted to ban the Africans from the competition.

When Dave Pain and others in White Plains learned of this on Saturday, three days before the start of competition, they were furious. At a Saturday night meeting of the U.S. Masters, it was unanimously voted to urge the Canadian meet organizers to reconsider, and permit the Africans to compete.

In a telephone interview which made the front page of the Toronto Star, Pain said: 'Many of the athletes on my team are ready to pull out if the South Africans are not allowed to take part. Representatives of the other teams that I have spoken to about the Canadian ban have indicated they will follow suit. The Canadian government has no right to do this." Pain said, the 15 South Africans had entered as individuals, not as a
